FINANCE AND BANKING | 2011

Philippe Thomas,

Scientific Director , Professor of Finance at ESCP Europe

In order to be able to succeed in the fields of Finance and Banking, three values are needed: excellence, innovation and openness. The Specialized Master in Finance and Banking is naturally imbued with the values of ESA and revolves around them through a dual academic and professional approach.

Involved Businesses

Corporate Director General, Finance Director, Banking Customer Officer, Accounting, Corporate Banking, Traders, etc.

Objective

Forming professionals by leading them to deepen and master the theories and tools necessary for the evolution of their responsibilities. They can also have at their disposal a more systematic analysis of the corporate practices, a greater openness to changes in organizations' environment, a growing international reflection and the opportunity to sharing experiences between professionals in the field, program auditors and visiting professors. The course aims to form experts by enabling them to become highly effective and operational collaborators in enterprises of different sectors in today's extremely competitive market.
